WASHINGTON, March 7 .- A recent correspendence between the President and the Secretary of the Treasury has given occasion to some dispatches unjust to both. Pains have been taken to ascertain the truth, and there is the highest authority for saying that neither letter contained more than a frank explanation of their respective positions, and that nothing in them evinces the slightest abatement of mutual respect and confidence.

CERNING COL. DAHLGREN.

NEW YORK, March 8 .- The Herald's army despatch says the Richmond Sentinel of the 5th states that Colonel Dahlgren was killed in the encounter with the 9th Virginia, in King and Queen county, and that seventy or eighty of his men were captured. Per Contra-the Tribune says he arrived at Williamsburg on Monday morning with his command.

has arrived from Hilton Head and Charleston Bar on the 4th inst. There is nothing new from Charleston. The bombardment still continued with good effect. The rebels replied at intervals, but rarely doing injury. The supply steamer Bermuda is reported to have captured a rebel privateer in sight of Fort Pickens, after an exciting chase. The rebels had just put a prize crew aboard a captured trading vessel, which was not retaken.

All was quiet at Jacksonville on the 2d. Reinforcements were rapidly arriving, and General Seymour's position was sufficiently formidable to repel any attack.

Our troops are outside the town, some of them at a distance of eight miles. The fortifications in front of Jackson ville are of an extensive character. A flag-of-truce boat had communicated with the rebels for the purpose of endeavoring to obtain our wounded who fell into their hands. The request was refused.

The main body of the enemy is encamped be-tween Ten-Mile Run and Baldwin, with a considerable force at Baldwin. The rebels admit their loss to be enormous, some even setting it as high as two thousand. On the 27th ultimo a small shirmish occurred between our cavalry and the rebels near Camp Finnegan. The rebels had five wounded. None of our men were hurt. General Gillmore arrived at Jacksonville

FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

NEW YORK, March 6 .- The steamer Ellen S. Perry, from Newbern on the 1st, arrived this evening. Our Newbern letter of the let states that Jeff Davis has suppressed the Raleigh Standard, thus increasing the surety of its editor's election as Governor next fall. The rebels are removing the obstructions in the Neuse river, below Kinston, in order to al. low an iron plated ram to come down to assist in the anticipated attack on Newbern, Washington and Plymouth, for which the rebels are making great preparations. A ram is said to be ready on the Roanoke river, as well as on The Raleigh Confederate states that the recent attack on Newbern was a diversion to be followed by a heavier demonstration. Gen. Wessels is dangerously ill at Plymouth. The Raleigh Confederate urges the necessity of changing the battle ground from Virginia to North Carolina. Official intelligence confirms the report that Jeff Davis has ordered the immed a e seizure of all the points now held by the Federals in North Carolina. Gen. Peck has made all preparations in his power, and the citizens and firemen are under orders to go to the fortifications. The hanging by the rebels of 23 men of the 2d North Carolina white regiment has exts or ted the loyal North Carolina troops beyong all bounds, and they have resolved to take no more prisoners.

FROM REBEL PAPERS.

Sherman's Expedition From the Mobile Register, Feb. 25. A gentleman who arrived in Mobile Wednes-day night confirms in general the accounts from Mississippi, and adds some interesting items:
He reports, on the authority of Yankee prischers at Enterprise, that Huribut's corps is retiring on Yazoo City, and McPherson's on Natchez. The prisoners attribute the failure of the expedition to the fact that Grierson and Logan were unable to make a junction with Sherman at Meridian. We do not understand Logan's whereabouts, but Grierson came by Pontetoc. We are assured that Gen. Forrest whipped Grierson soundly at Tibbes, taking a number of prisoners, and the latter retreated in the direction of North Alabama. The report of his being at Aberdeen is not fully substantiated, though there is a rumor that he has turnt the town

The damage done the Mobi e and Ohio Railroad extends from Lauderdale to two miles selow Quitman, a distance of forty-six miles, all the bridges and trestie work being destroyed, and the track torn up for miles at intervals, as elsewhere stated. Everything at Lauderdale Springs was destroyed. The Southern road is completely torn up from Jackson to Meridian. Our informant states that the enemy committed few depredations upon property, beyond helping themselves to provisions. At Quitman they took bed clothing, but their excuse was that they were misinformed as to the distance, and came without blankets, expecting to return the same day. They are supposed to have carried off about 800 negroes, selecting the likeliest, and in one or two instances, driving back some lots that they did not consider eligible Some persons about Enterprise took the Yankee oath, and accompanied them on their retreat, but this was entirely voluntary; no attempt was made to enforce it. The brigade that visited Quiman conversed freely of their plans, and inquired if there was not an attack going on upon the forts below Mobile. They understood that to be a part of the programme, the object being to divert the Confederate forces.

They said they had no intention of moving against Mobile, and their excursion to Quitman was only for the purpose of destroying the bridge over the Chickasabay, to prevent troops from coming up the road. Their plan, as gathered from their movements and convertion, and from the statement of prisoners, was, after uniting with Grierson and Logan, to move upon Selma and Mentgomery. According to the prisoners, their next scheme is to hasten back to Grant and march upon Columbia, South Carolina.

NEGRO RECRUITING IN MARYLAND .- The Baitimore American of last evening says:
"To-day Lieut. Col. Perkins is marching with a large detachment of the 19th United States colored troops, from Benedict towards Baltimere, with rations for twenty days, can-vassing to the right and left through the Western Shore, piping up the read, lighting up the hilltops with his campfires, permeating the byways with his detachments, and calling upon every body to turn over every able-bodied slave to the Government, in all that section of country. upon the terms prescribed by act of Con-press and act of the Legislature of Maryland. "At the same time a similar detachment marches up the Baltimore and York turn-pike: another up the Reistertown turnpike; another over towards the Delaware line; while recruiting stations at Ellicott's Mills, Frederick City, Hagerstown, Cumberland, and a dozen other places, are sending down recruits in squads which must soon fill up several reg-

Circular, No. 21 .- The following extract from deneral Orders No. 21. dated War Department, July 27, 1863, is furnished for the information and guidance of all concerned: The following regulations have been received from the War Department, and are published to the Army: Soldiers confined by civil authority are not entitled to pay during such confinement, unless discharged therefrom without trial, or by trial and acquittal; and commanders of companies and detachments are required to state explicitly upon the muster rolls of their companies or detachments the periods of such confinements, and whether the soldiers so confined were discharged without trial, and, if tried, whether they were acquitted or convicted. E. D. Townsend,

Assistant Adjutant General.

War Department, Cavalry Bureau, Washington, D. C., March 7, 1861. Circular. Circular of February 5, from this Bureau, containing instructions to inspectors of cavalry horses, having been misunderstood by contractors and others, the following is published for the information of all concerned: It is not intended that horses shall be branded with the letter "R," on the shoulder, in any case except where there is a manifest attempt at fraud; only such cases being regarded in that light where diseases or defects are concealed, or where the horses are manifestly much too old, and where horses are presented that never can be fit for service in any capacity. Inspectors are not authorized to brand any horse on the shoulder with the letter "R" that may ever become fit for any department of the public service, except when a contractor presents a horse that has been rejected, before the oper time, without the notification required by the instructions, and in the cases of attempt at fraud.

The authority to brand horses with the letter R" is given to the inspectors to protect them and the Government against the well-known impositions of dealers in horses, and is not to be abused, or exercised without good cause, and fair warning to the dealer. The letter "R" on the hoof is only a temporary condemnation of the horses for cavalry purposes. He may be fit for artillery, or draft purposes, or even for cavalry, at some future day; but the time of inspectors is valuable, and must not be taken up in examining horses only to discover that they have been rejected There can be no objection to the regulation adopted by this bureau to protect the Government against imposition, where contractors are disposed to deal fairly and furnish the quality of horses required; and serviceable horses are too much in demand to justify the permanent condemnation of any horse that can be used in the public service. Any abuse of the authority given to inspectors to brand with the letter "R," if reported to this bureau, will receive prompt attention and investigation, and speedy punishment on con-By order of Brigadier General Wilson.

O'CLOCK P. M.

ARREST OF JOS. L. SAVAGE. Yesterday, Joseph L. Savage of this city, hardware dealer, was arrested in New York by Government officers, and lodged in Fort Lafayette, on a charge of defrauding the Government; and at 9 o'clock last night his store 221 D street (near 10th), was taken possession of by military detectives, and a guard placed over it. The arrest and seizure was by request of the Secretary of the Navy.

The charges against him are understood to be for making fraudulent entries (alterations) in certificates of the Navy agency at New York, of the delivery of goods purchased of him for the use of the Navy, at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, by which means the Government is said to have been defrauded out of a large sum of money, from first to last. He has for some time had a branch of his Washington establishment in New York, principally in connection with his business as contractor for supplies to the Navy Department. The seizure of his establishment here, it is believed, is for the purpose of enabling Government to get in possession as much of his visible means as possible, to secure themselves from loss as far as may be. Savage it is stated, got wind some time ago of the fact that Government detectives were on his track and went to Canada, but subsequently returned .

NOT 30.

Col. Bazil Duke, the noted guerrilla, was lodged in Fort Delaware Saturday evening by Maj. Johnson, of Gen. Heintzleman's staff. The statement of the Philadelphia Prsss, copied in a morning cotemporary, relative to feasting the colonel at the Continental Hotel there, &c., we learn is a misstatement of the facts. The prisoner reached Philadelphia too late for the steamer, and was taken to the hotel simply because Maj. Johnson had no knowledge of any other party of prisoners, or of any place of imprisonment for prisoners of war in the city. The Colonel was closely guarded during his stay at the hotel, and had also given his parole not to attempt to escape. He only partook of the regular meals, and was treated during his entire stay as a prisoner. The numerous friends of Maj. Johnson in Washington claim this explanation, and it is to be regretted that any reporter should have exercised his imagination at the expense of a gallant officer.

THE REPORTED DEATH OF COL. DAHLGREN DOUBTLESS TRUE. The dispatch from New York states that the Tribune announces that Col. Dahlgren has reached Williamsburg in safety; while the Herald has a dispatch quoting the announcement of his death made in a Richmond paper. We wish we could believe the report of his safety was true, but fear the report of his death is correct, as the Richmond paper in question-the Sentinel, of Saturday-publishes orders found upon his body.

REORGANIZATION OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC

Arrangements are being made for an immediate reorganization of the Army of the Potomac. It is understood that the first corps, commanded by Gen. Newton, will be consolidated into a division. Brigades will be also consolidated, so as to give each of these commands from three to five thousand men, and reduce altogether the list of colonels commanding such organizations.

Goheen stated his reason for asking this change to be that he had now arrived at an age when he believed a short time of rest would make him more effective in the future.

kev. Mr. Thomas, from the committee on affairs of Dickinson Coilege, made a report, which was adopted. The college is pronounced in a good condition in all particulars. The report was accompanied by a statement from

Rev. M. H. Johnson, President of the college.

It is recommended that efforts be made to increase the finances of the institution; and a resolution was also adopted, setting forth that this was the proper time to endow the college, and recommending that an effort be made to raise $100,000, wherewith to endow the college.

The reading of the report was followed by an address by the President of the College, Rev.

H. M. Johnson, and he urged the necessity of sustaining the Institute as an aid to the Metnodist Episcopal Church. He claimed that the central location of the college and the fact that it was the oldest college in Pennsylvania and in this region of country, should have some bearing upon the minds of members of the church and upon Conferences. In order to show the high standing of the College, Mr. Johnson proceeded to read the names of many graduates who have become eminent in church and State, and whose names would reflect honor upon any school of learning. The necessity of educating the young men of methodist families in order to have them properly cope with other denominations was enlarged upon and determined action was urged. It was also desirable that money should be raised and therefore Pastors of churches were urged to Mr. Davis desired to amend the report so as to make the last resolution as expressing the sentiments of the General Conference in 1784.

To let these resolutions go out this way, it would look like double dealing, and we would go out with two faces; one for the Border and one for the North. But shall we make concession now when the legal disabilities of 1780 are being removed? He was an anti-slavery man, and was glad this legal disability was being

There was now a different feeling, and the representatives of Virginia and Maryland were for emancipation. Even secessionists said slavery must go by the board, and may it do so! Several voices .- "Amen!" BALTIMORE ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Mr. Davis, in conclusion, said they must take a defined position, and not go before the public with two taces.

Mr. Phelps offered his resolution as a sublitute for the last resolution of the committee, for the latter intimated that Conference was timid upon the subject, and did not come up to the status of a grave body of ministers. It looked to him as though the Conference was waiting first for the people to act. At least that impression would go out. Does the committe mean we shall have a voice in the matter now? As an American citizen, he wanted to stand and move with the people. As a native of Virginia and a christian, he did not believe God would so punish us if we looked at slavery as a terrible wrong. We stand by the well known and established anti-slavery position of the Methodist church, and we should be explicit upon the slavery subject.

Mr. B. N. Brown said that it was one of the misfortunes of the times that principles are overlooked. That idea entered not the mind of men, but they were more concerned for details. For this reason the committee had been careful to draft resolutions recognizing facts as they exist, ann leaving the great law-giver to fix the means for the consummation of his

Mr. Dayis desired to know what Mr. Brown defined to be the well-known and established principles of the Methodist Episcopal church on the slavery question? Mr. Brown said he did not suppose he could sufficiently explain it to Mr. Davis' mind, for if words conveyed ideas, then the committee had explained all. If the principles of the M. E. Church were not understood at three-fourths of a century, the speaker could not make them plainer. But some men and some brethren thought the Deity did not move fast enough, and they were not disposed to let him work out his work in his own good time. Rev. N. J. B. Morgan said the committee had been careful to prepare the report in order that it might have an unanimous support. A motion to lay Mr. Phelps' substitute on the table and the motion of Mr. Davis prevailed, and the question was then ordered to be taken by yeas and nays, although an effort was make to have the question divided as some members could not vote for the last resolution The roll was then called, and J. Mr. A. J. Myers said, that, as a menber of the body and a superannuated minister, he had tound enough to do to attend to the interests of the Church. He, however, felt constrained to Rev. Alfred Griffith was excused; he stated that his hearing was so bad he could not vote
